AWARD

Last Wednesday month was a day of achievements for Sarah Achouri from 2J. She was part of the Abbey Junior School team that won second place at the Multi Skills Competition. In the afternoon, she attended her swimming class, where she was successfully promoted to Level 4. She went to sleep tired but happy. It was such an enjoyable day.

PUBLISHED

I am delighted to announce that I have self-published a children's book titled "Guess what? There's a Baby in Mummy's Tummy!" This book is just the beginning of a creative journey that my mum and I have been planning for a long time. The book is about me and my feelings about becoming a big sister—the thrill and excitement of having a new sibling, the genuine, sometimes confused feelings that come with change, and the developing relationship between a big sister and her new baby sibling.

The book was read in my class, 2J, and everyone left impressed. My teacher, Mrs Johnson, and the headteacher, Dr K, encouraged me to write more, and they are excited for my writing about my adventures at Abbey Infant School. The book can be found using the following link: <https://www.amazon.co.uk/dp/B0F7THS9CF>

Thanks to Sarah and her mum for the story!

[Ed - we are really proud of you!]
